TITLE IX

Policies, Reporting, and Support

www.equity.arizona.edu

The University of Arizona is committed to creating and maintaining an environment free of discrimination. In support of this commitment, the University prohibits sex-based discrimination including harassment and violence. A person affected by discrimination can seek confidential support or assistance, can request supportive measures, and can request formal disciplinary proceedings by the University.

The University utilizes a variety of approaches to prevent and redress sex discrimination. We realize that individual community members who are affected in some way by sex discrimination may benefit from many sources of support and assistance. All members of our community must know where to turn if they have a concern, need assistance or support, or would like to file a complaint. We have compiled a collection of resources and information to assist members of the University community.

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

The University of Arizona's Nondiscrimination and Anti-harassment Policy and the Student Code of Conduct prohibit sex and gender-based discrimination including sexual harassment, sexual misconduct, and relationship violence. Retaliation against anyone who makes a complaint, or who participates in any complaint-related process, is not tolerated.

Nondiscrimination and Anti-Harassment

- Disciplinary Procedures: deanofstudents.arizona.edu/policies/policies

The Process

The University of Arizona has equitable procedures in place to address concerns promptly, thoroughly, and fairly. Both parties have an opportunity to receive supportive measures, to present their perspectives, to provide witnesses or information, to bring an advisor to any meeting, and to ask questions and seek clarification. The procedures for investigation and resolution of complaints are detailed in the applicable disciplinary/grievance procedures. See: equity.arizona.edu/reporting and equity.arizona.edu/policies-procedures

REPORTING OPTIONS

Anyone who experiences, or is aware of, incidents of discrimination or discriminatory harassment is encouraged to report the concern. There are a number of ways to report concerns and get information, support and resources.

Retaliation against individuals who report concerns or who participate in an investigative process is prohibited.
